LOGAN POMPER

The Campers

Copyright

©Copyright given to Logan Pomper

Dedication

This book is dedicated to my mom.

Chapter 1

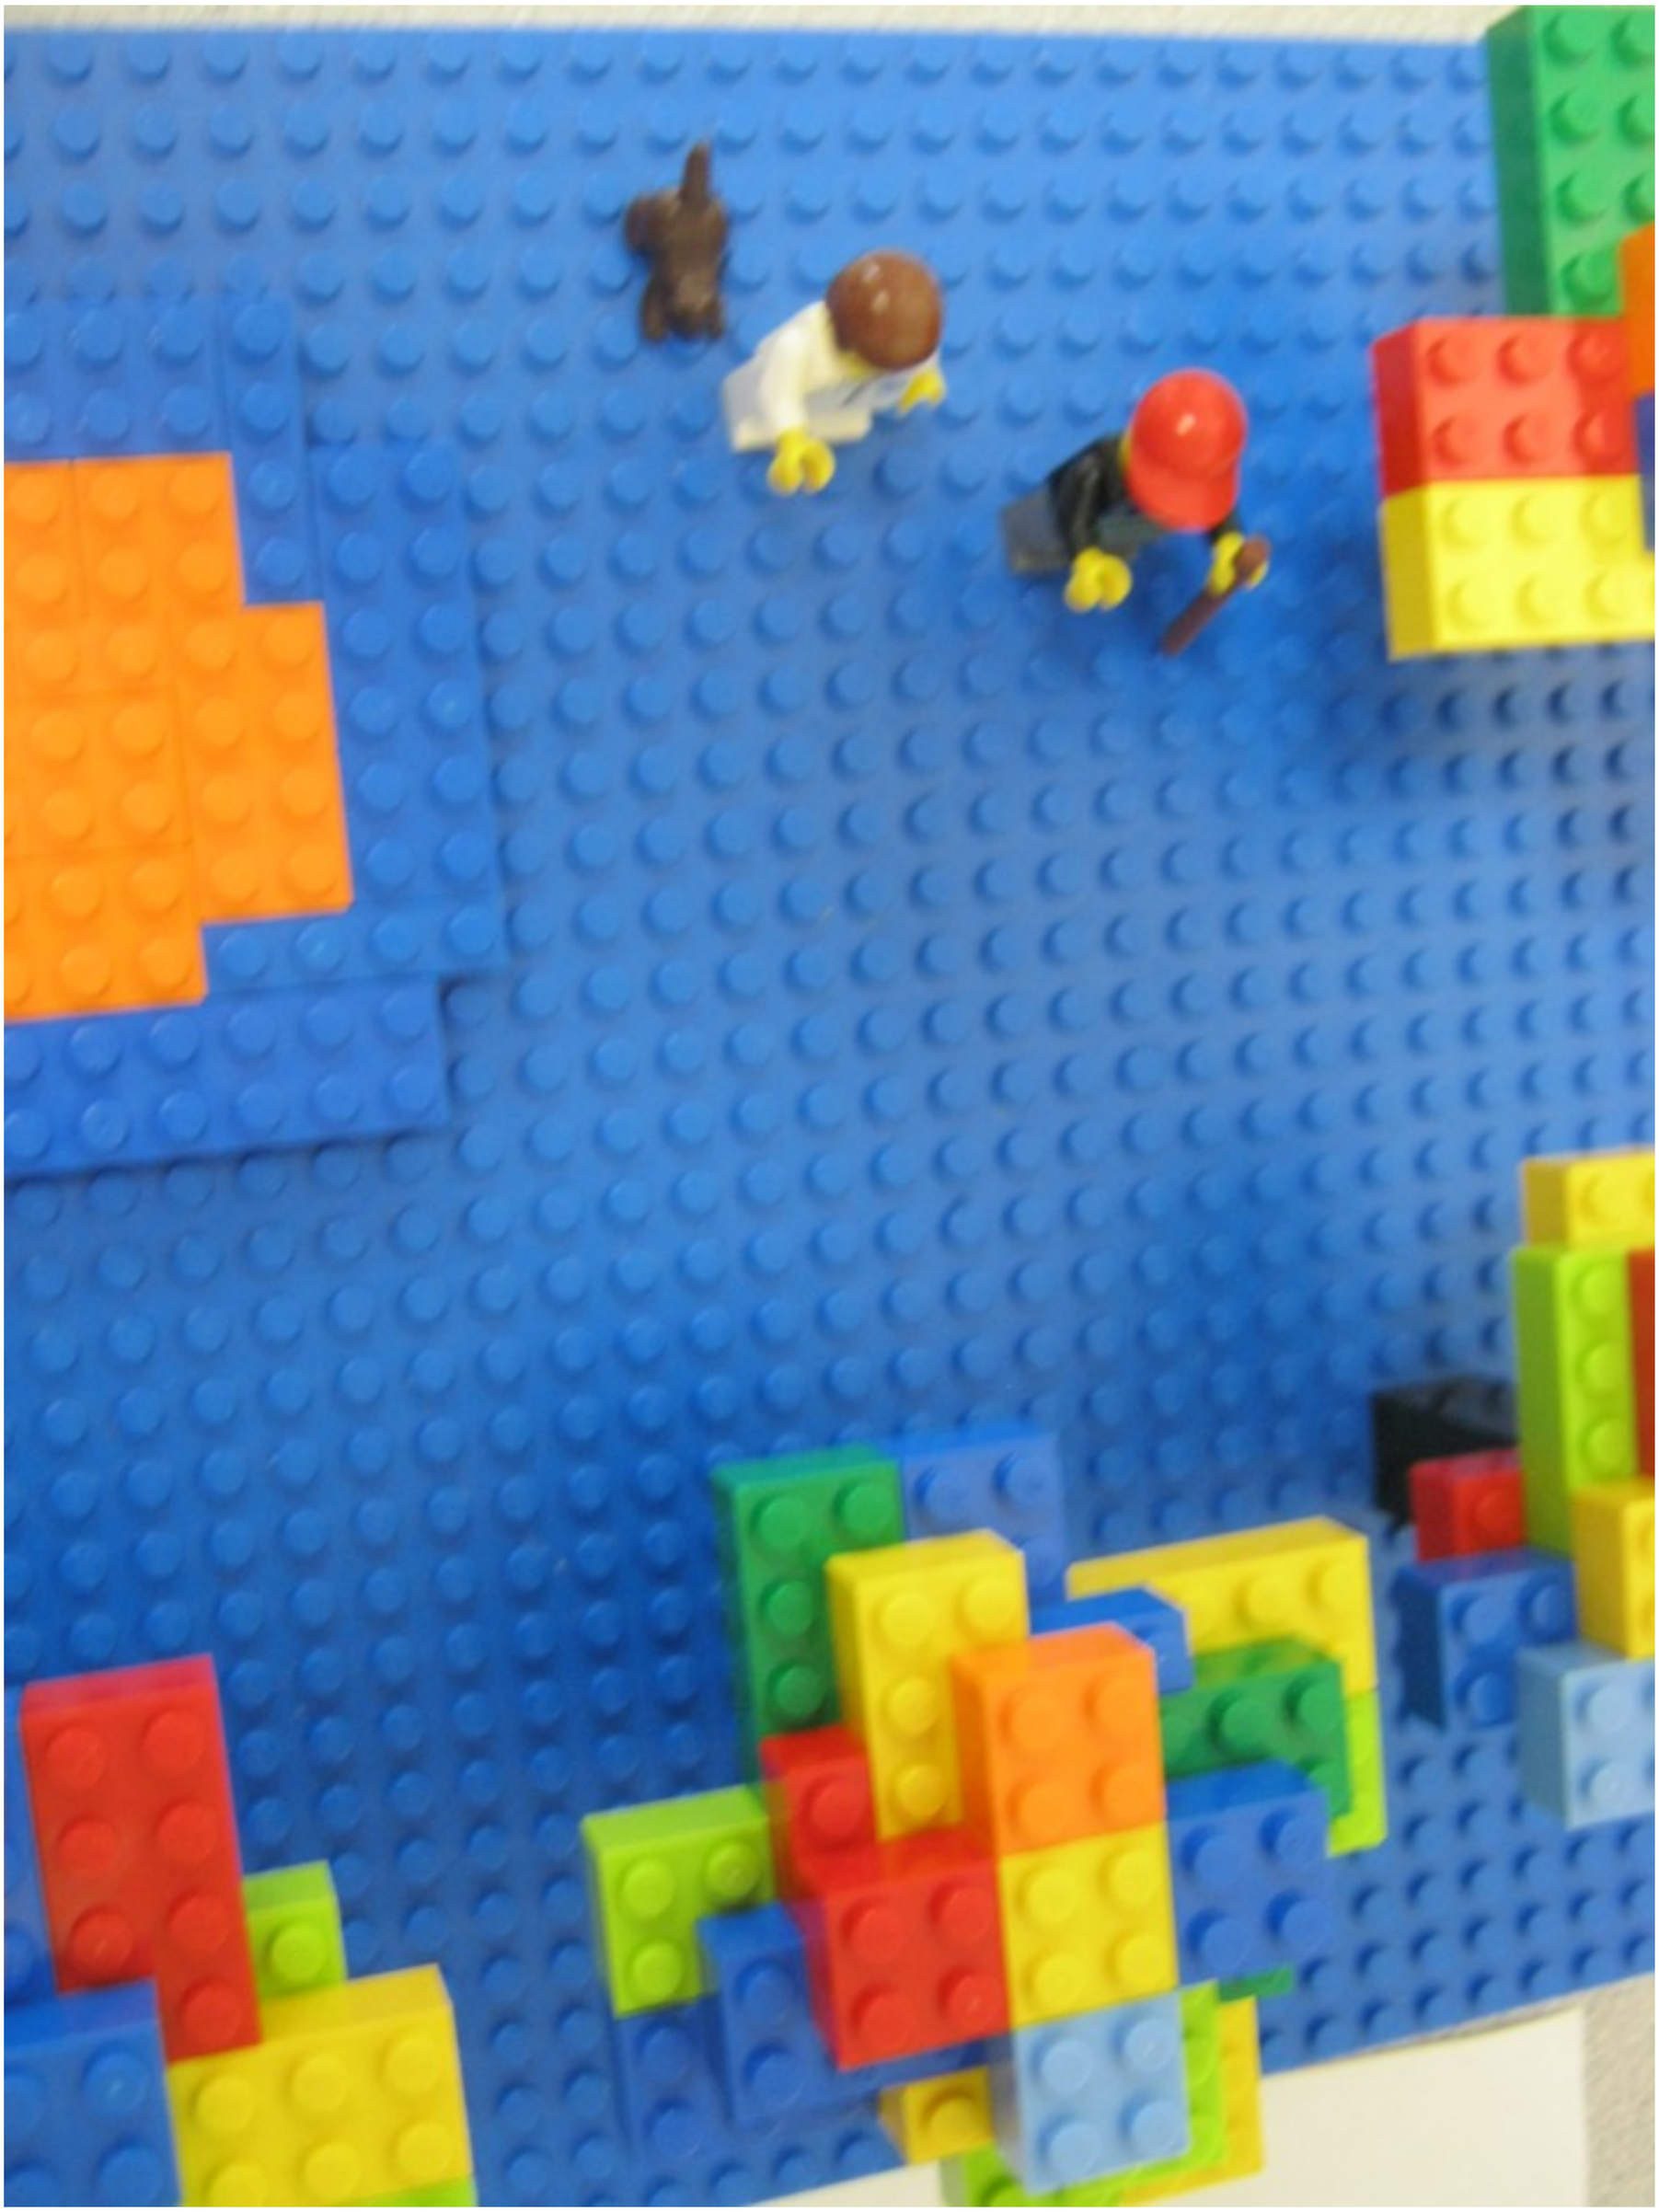
Setting up camp

Hi, my name is Fred. Today my friend Steve and I are going camping in the woods. It'll be fun, we will roast marshmallows, tell ghost stories and go on a hike,"Tomorrow we will go hiking, Fred." said Steve as we laid down our sleeping bags in our tent,"Okay, sounds great!" I said. I was tired thirsty and hungry from walking and setting up the tent and campfire, did a also mention that I have a cat named Benny. He's very sweet and gentle. Well time to go to bed.

Chapter 2

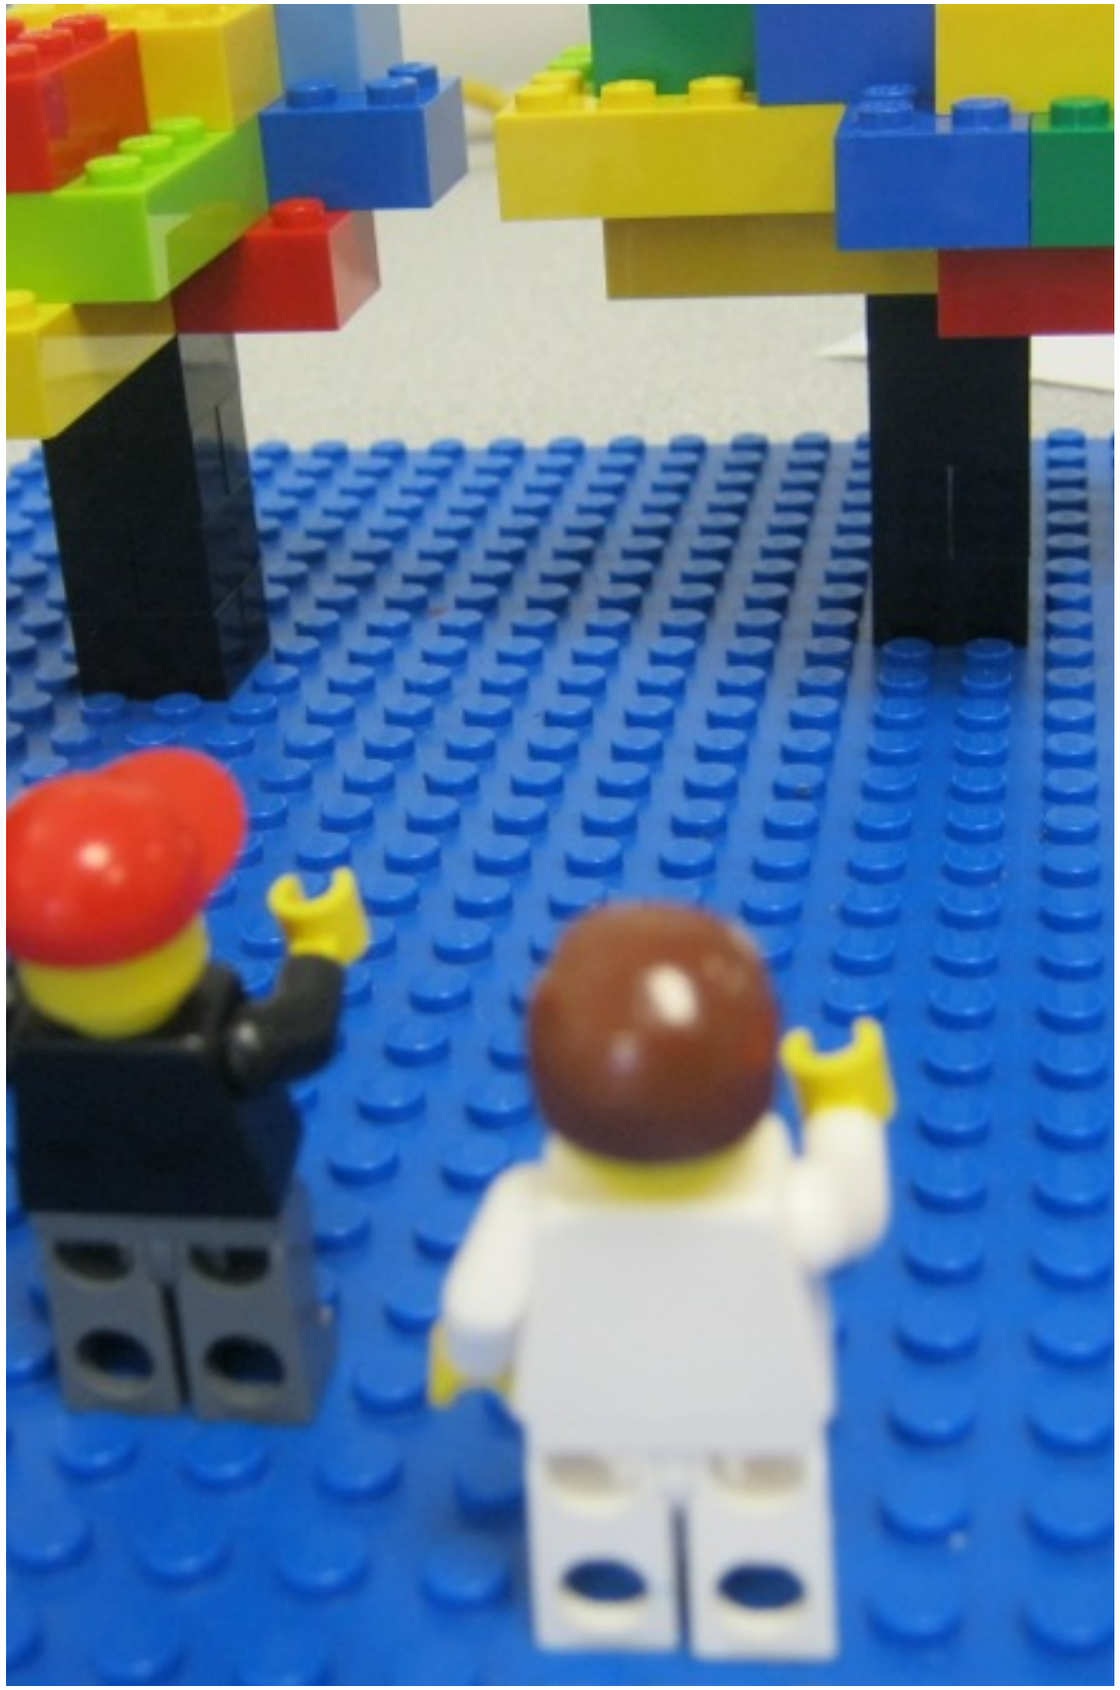
Going hiking... and falling into a cave

I woke up, well Steve woke me up. He poked me until I Finally woke up. sigh so much for sleeping in on saturday. oh well there will be other saturdays, but anyways he wanted to go hiking at 7:00 am, I wake up at 10:00 am usually. for breakfast we had; eggs, bacon and pancakes. YUMMY! alright, time to go hiking. Steve took his "lucky" walking stick and my cat, Benny came along as well. Boy, when will we go back home? what's this a cave. cool! yikes! it's very slippery. oh no! Steve fell into a hole were I can't see the bottom I'm coming Steve, slip oh no!!! I fell in too! wait. what's that very small circle of light. hmm... well we'll see when we fall right?



Chapter 3

The new dimension

wow! were are we? I must be hallucinating, there are rainbow colored trees, orange water and blue grass! This must be a dream or something. these trees have golden apples growing on them! what happens if I eat one? I know they are golden, but I'm not taking any chances! why is the water orange!? might as not ask. well. I'm going to go and find my way back to the surface with Steve. Wait what? no, Steve don't eat the golden apples you have no idea what they do! oh well, at least we won't starve. now let's go find the exit!


To be continued...