Chapter 1

Meet
WhirlGirl

WhirlGirl is a superhero who has the power to make gusts of wind spurt out from her body when she spins her body. She got her powers when she was in college. She was studying natural storms and how they happen. She went to Kansas, since tornadoes occur there often. Her parents also lived there. On her 4th day, a really severe and gigantic tornado, the biggest one in Kansas, struck her hotel in which she was living in. And the tornado was made out of color! She saw it coming, and wanted to go after it in her Lexus to get it on her video recorder. Well, she went to close and got stuck in the tornado's funnel. She was shouting for help but no one came. Her Lexus was being wrecked to pieces. She was getting really dizzy and felt queasy. There was nothing she could do to escape the clutches of this violent storm. And suddenly, a great gust of wind struck her body. 2 hours later, when she woke, she was wearing an orange suit with a whirl on it. She felt the urge to spin, for some reason. When she did, huge gusts of wind shot out from her body. She was stunned to know that she could do such a thing. She decided to use her powers for good and to be known as WhirlGirl.

Before WhirlGirl had got her powers, she was known by a nickname called Alex. Her real name was Alexandria. She loved to study natural storms. Her favorite subject in college was Science, and specifically in science, weather. Her favorite colors were Orange and blue. She was 22 years old going on to 23. Her birthday was May 19, and it was May 12. She was half Chinese and half Mexican. Her mom was Mexican and her dad was Chinese. Her mom had passed away by fighting for the U.S. army in Afghanistan. Her dad was staying in Maine. She was staying in Mississippi and going to "The university of Mississippi." She was 5' 11". She had a Lexus to drive around. She stayed in an apartment and had Indian food for dinner every night. Her best friend was a girl named Sarah whom she had a lot in common with. Alexandria was the smartest kid in her University. Her favorite animal was the Komodo Dragon, which she had once rode on top of. She had really long brown hair and light blue eyes. She had a talent for board games also. She was the all-time chess champion ever since the age of eight. She was always a good sport and that made her appearance look better every time she played. Whenever she checkmated someone, she would always say, "Good game" and then shake their hand. Alexandria was a girl of many talents.

Chapter 2

The Man On The TrainTracks

On May 15, when Alexandria was reading a book a book about hurricanes, she heard a noise of a train. That train came chugging by at 6:00 every evening on Thursdays. Alexandria decided to take a break from her book and go and see that train come by. She had been so busy that she had forgotten to take small breaks in between. She went to her black Mustang, which was her new car after the violent tornado destroyed her Lexus. It was a short drive, because she drove the car so fast so she would not miss the train. When she got out, she saw a really horrible sight. A homeless man was sleeping on the TrainTracks!

The train was coming at about 89 miles per hour and this helpless man with a green shirt was sleeping on the TrainTracks! “I have to save him!” Alexandria thought. “But how?” Then she remembered about the whole incident in Kansas, when she got stuck in the tornado and how when she got out that she had superpowers! Alexandria had to find a way to turn back into WhirlGirl. “Well, since WhirlGirl spins, maybe if i spin, I can turn into WhirlGirl and save him!” And then,with a great spin, Alexandria turned int WhirlGirl. She kept spinning around the man and after 12 spins, the man was woken up. The wind had also stopped the train from moving! WhirlGirl said to the man, “Run for your life!” the man listened and ran until he was out of sight. Then, WhirlGirl spun another tremendous spin and turned back to Alexandria.

When Alexandria came back to her hotel, she took a little time to reflect. “Wow, my first rescue!” She taught to herself. She taught that she should keep her secret identity only to herself and not tell anyone, even Sarah. She wondered what her next rescue would be. She also wondered if she had any more secret powers hidden inside of her that were yet to be discovered. She wondered where the man that she rescued could be. But it was a very strange sight to see a man sleeping on TrainTracks, especially on thursdays at the exact time that the train comes.

CHAPTER 3

The Reunion

2 weeks later, when Alexandria was eating at a Indian Restaurant, a man came and stood beside her table. Since the restaurant was crowded, he asked if he could share a table. Alexandria thought, “What harm would that be?” and then said yes. The man said that his name was George, and was also in College. The man looked at her, as if he were examining her. “You look familiar” he said. “I do?” thought Alexandria. Then, for some reason, she also thought that the man looked very familiar. He was wearing a green shirt that looked familiar, and his short beard looked familiar also. Then she remembered everything. The man on the TrainTracks!

This was the man on the TrainTracks! It all made sense! Everything was familiar about him! The same clothes, the same beard, even he said that she looked Familiar. Then she blurted out, “You are the man on the TrainTracks!” so that the entire restaurant heard her thundering voice. “Sorry” she said with her face red. Then the man said “Yes, I remember you now! You were that superhero that saved me from getting run over! Alexandria’s secret identity was lost. “How do you know?” asked Alexandria. “Because your face looks just like that superhero” said the man. “Yes, you are correct” said Alexandria. “But you have to promise not to tell anyone!” said Alexandria. “I promise” said the man.

It was the day after, and Alexandria had a new friend. She also figured out that George was not homeless and that day he had been lost so much that he had fallen asleep on the TrainTracks. George was living in the Apartment right in front of her, and she used to visit him often. She also introduced him to Sarah. And from that day on, they all made the best of friends and WhirlGirl, now safe with her secret identity, will protect her city for many years to come.

The End

PRAISE FOR “WHIRLGIRL”

I like when she got new friends,I also liked when people have happily ever after.I like how you put quotations. -Loryn
