

The Amazing Bob

By: Andrew Terminiello

The Amazing Bob

© 2011 Book Publishing Co., LLC

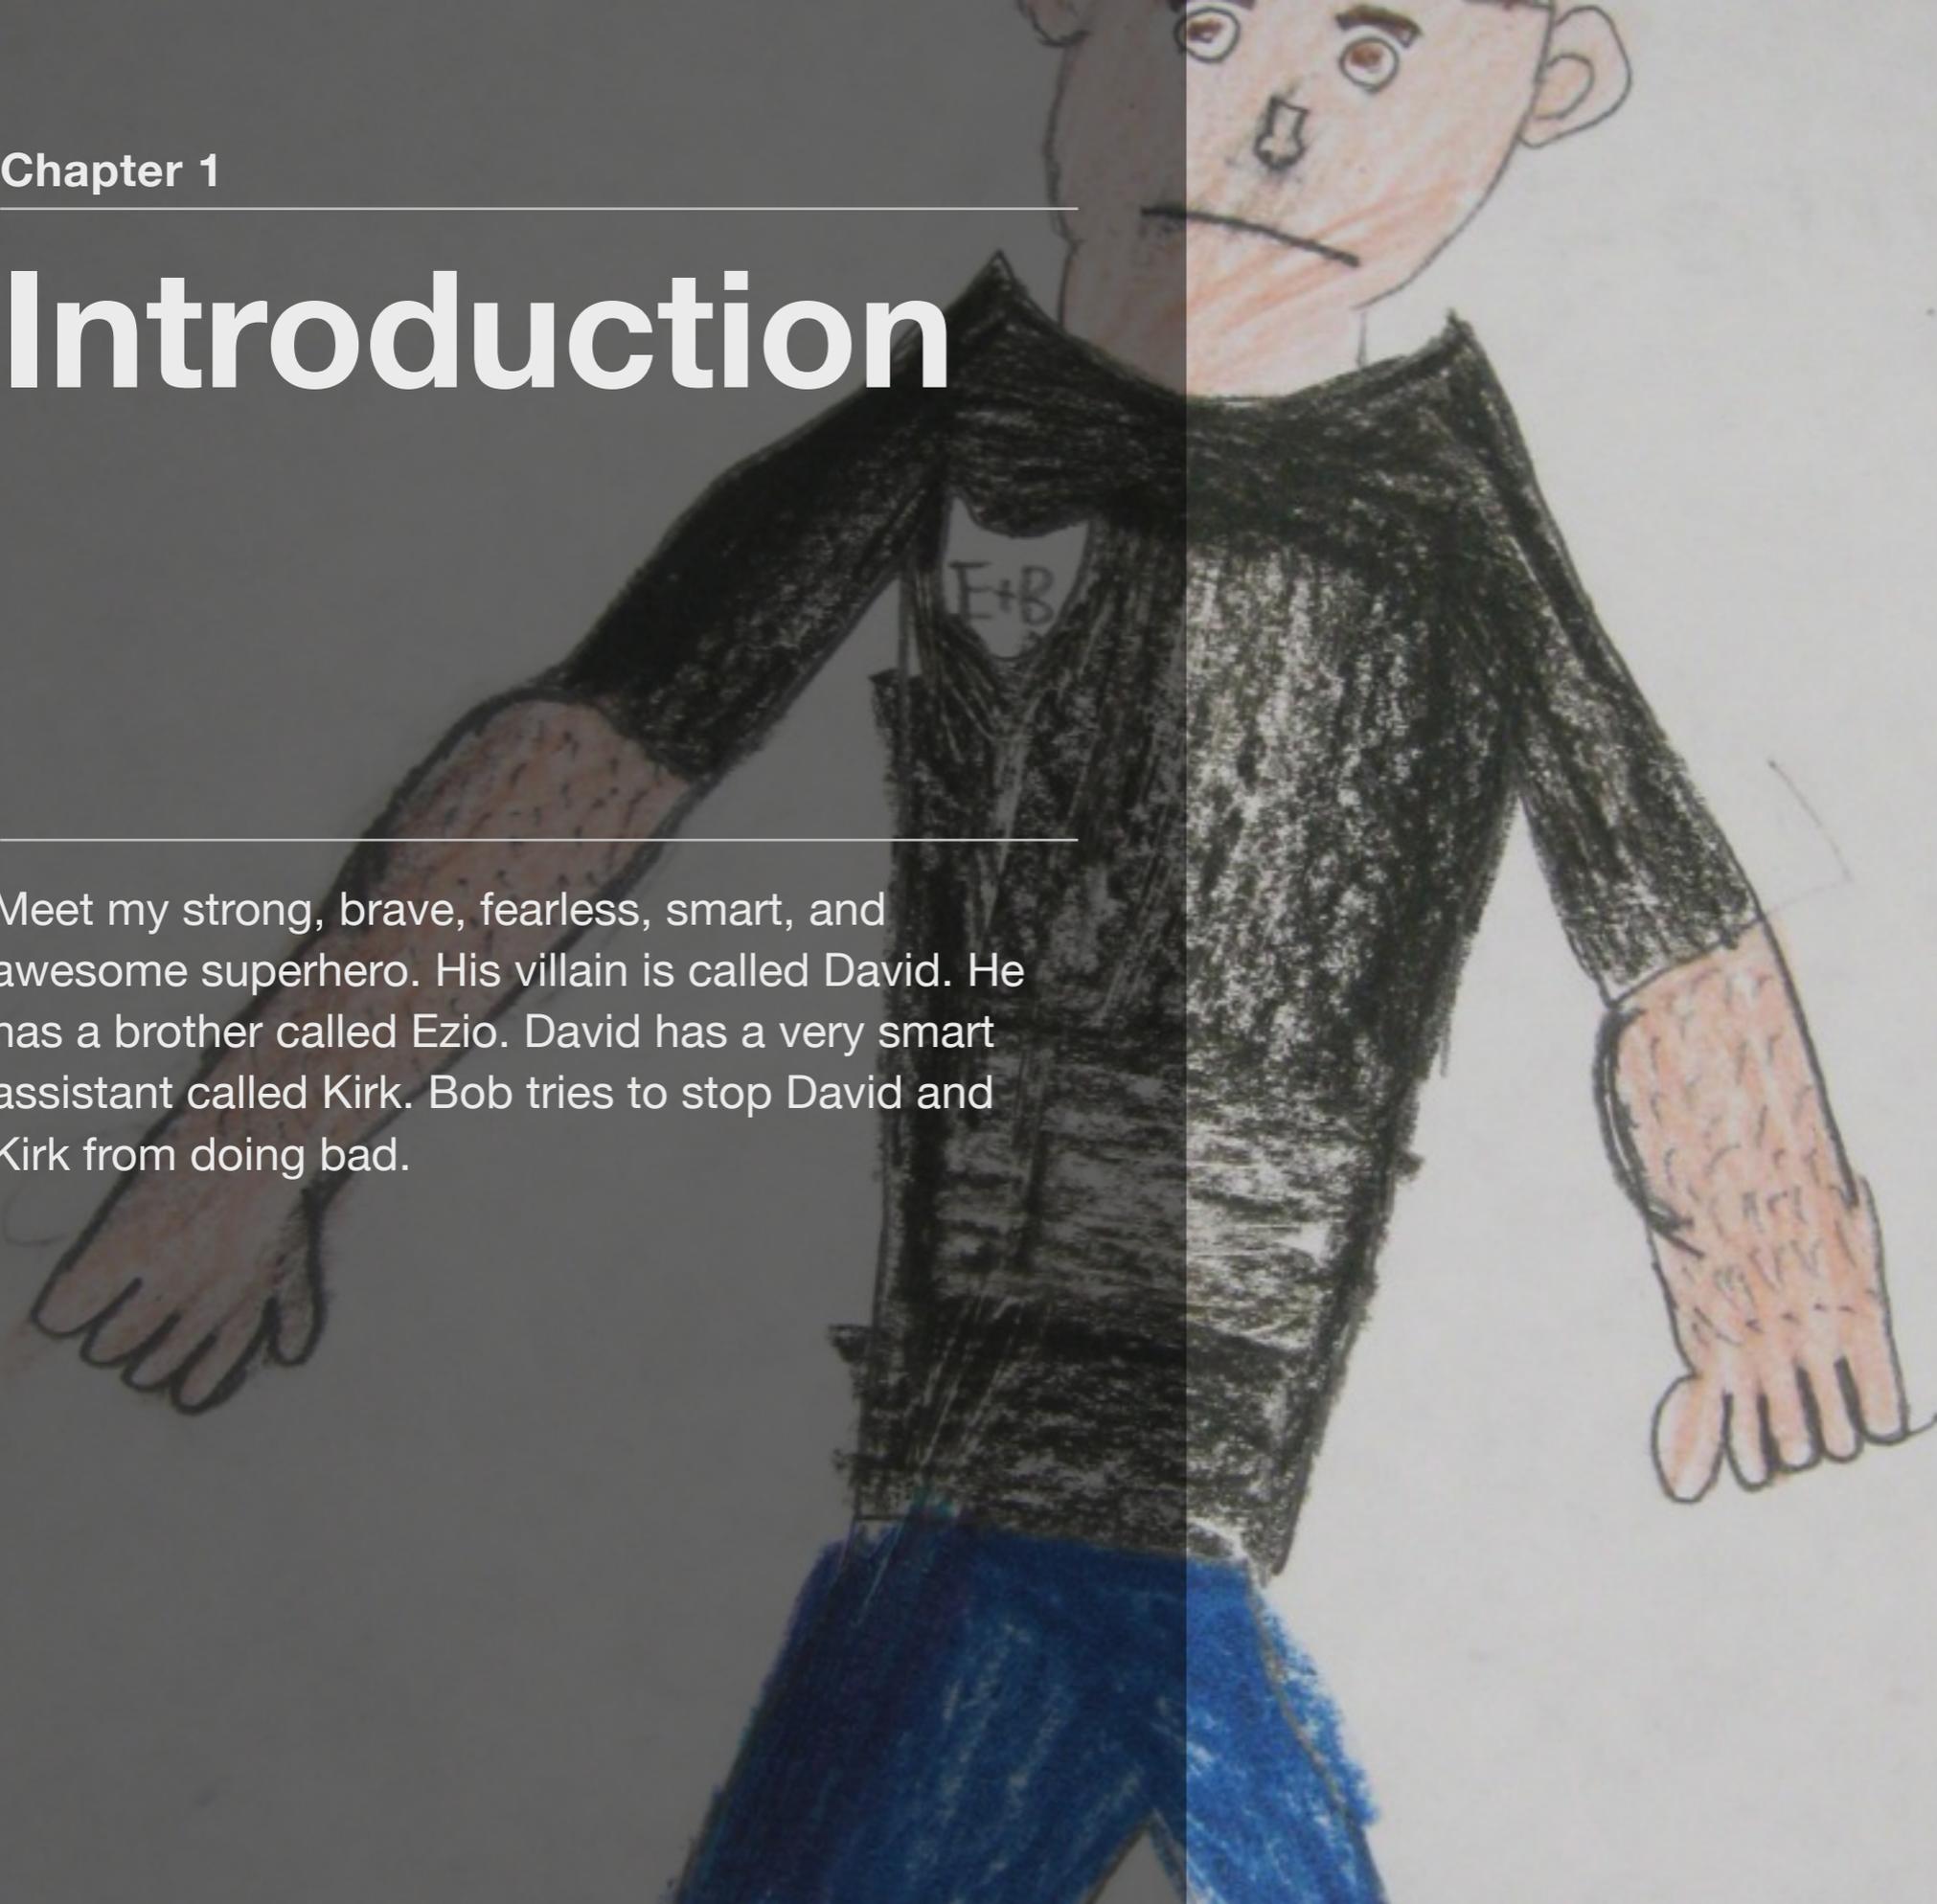

All rights reserved to Andrew Terminiello, and Nicholas Winner

Dedication

*This book is dedicated to
Mr. Mike*

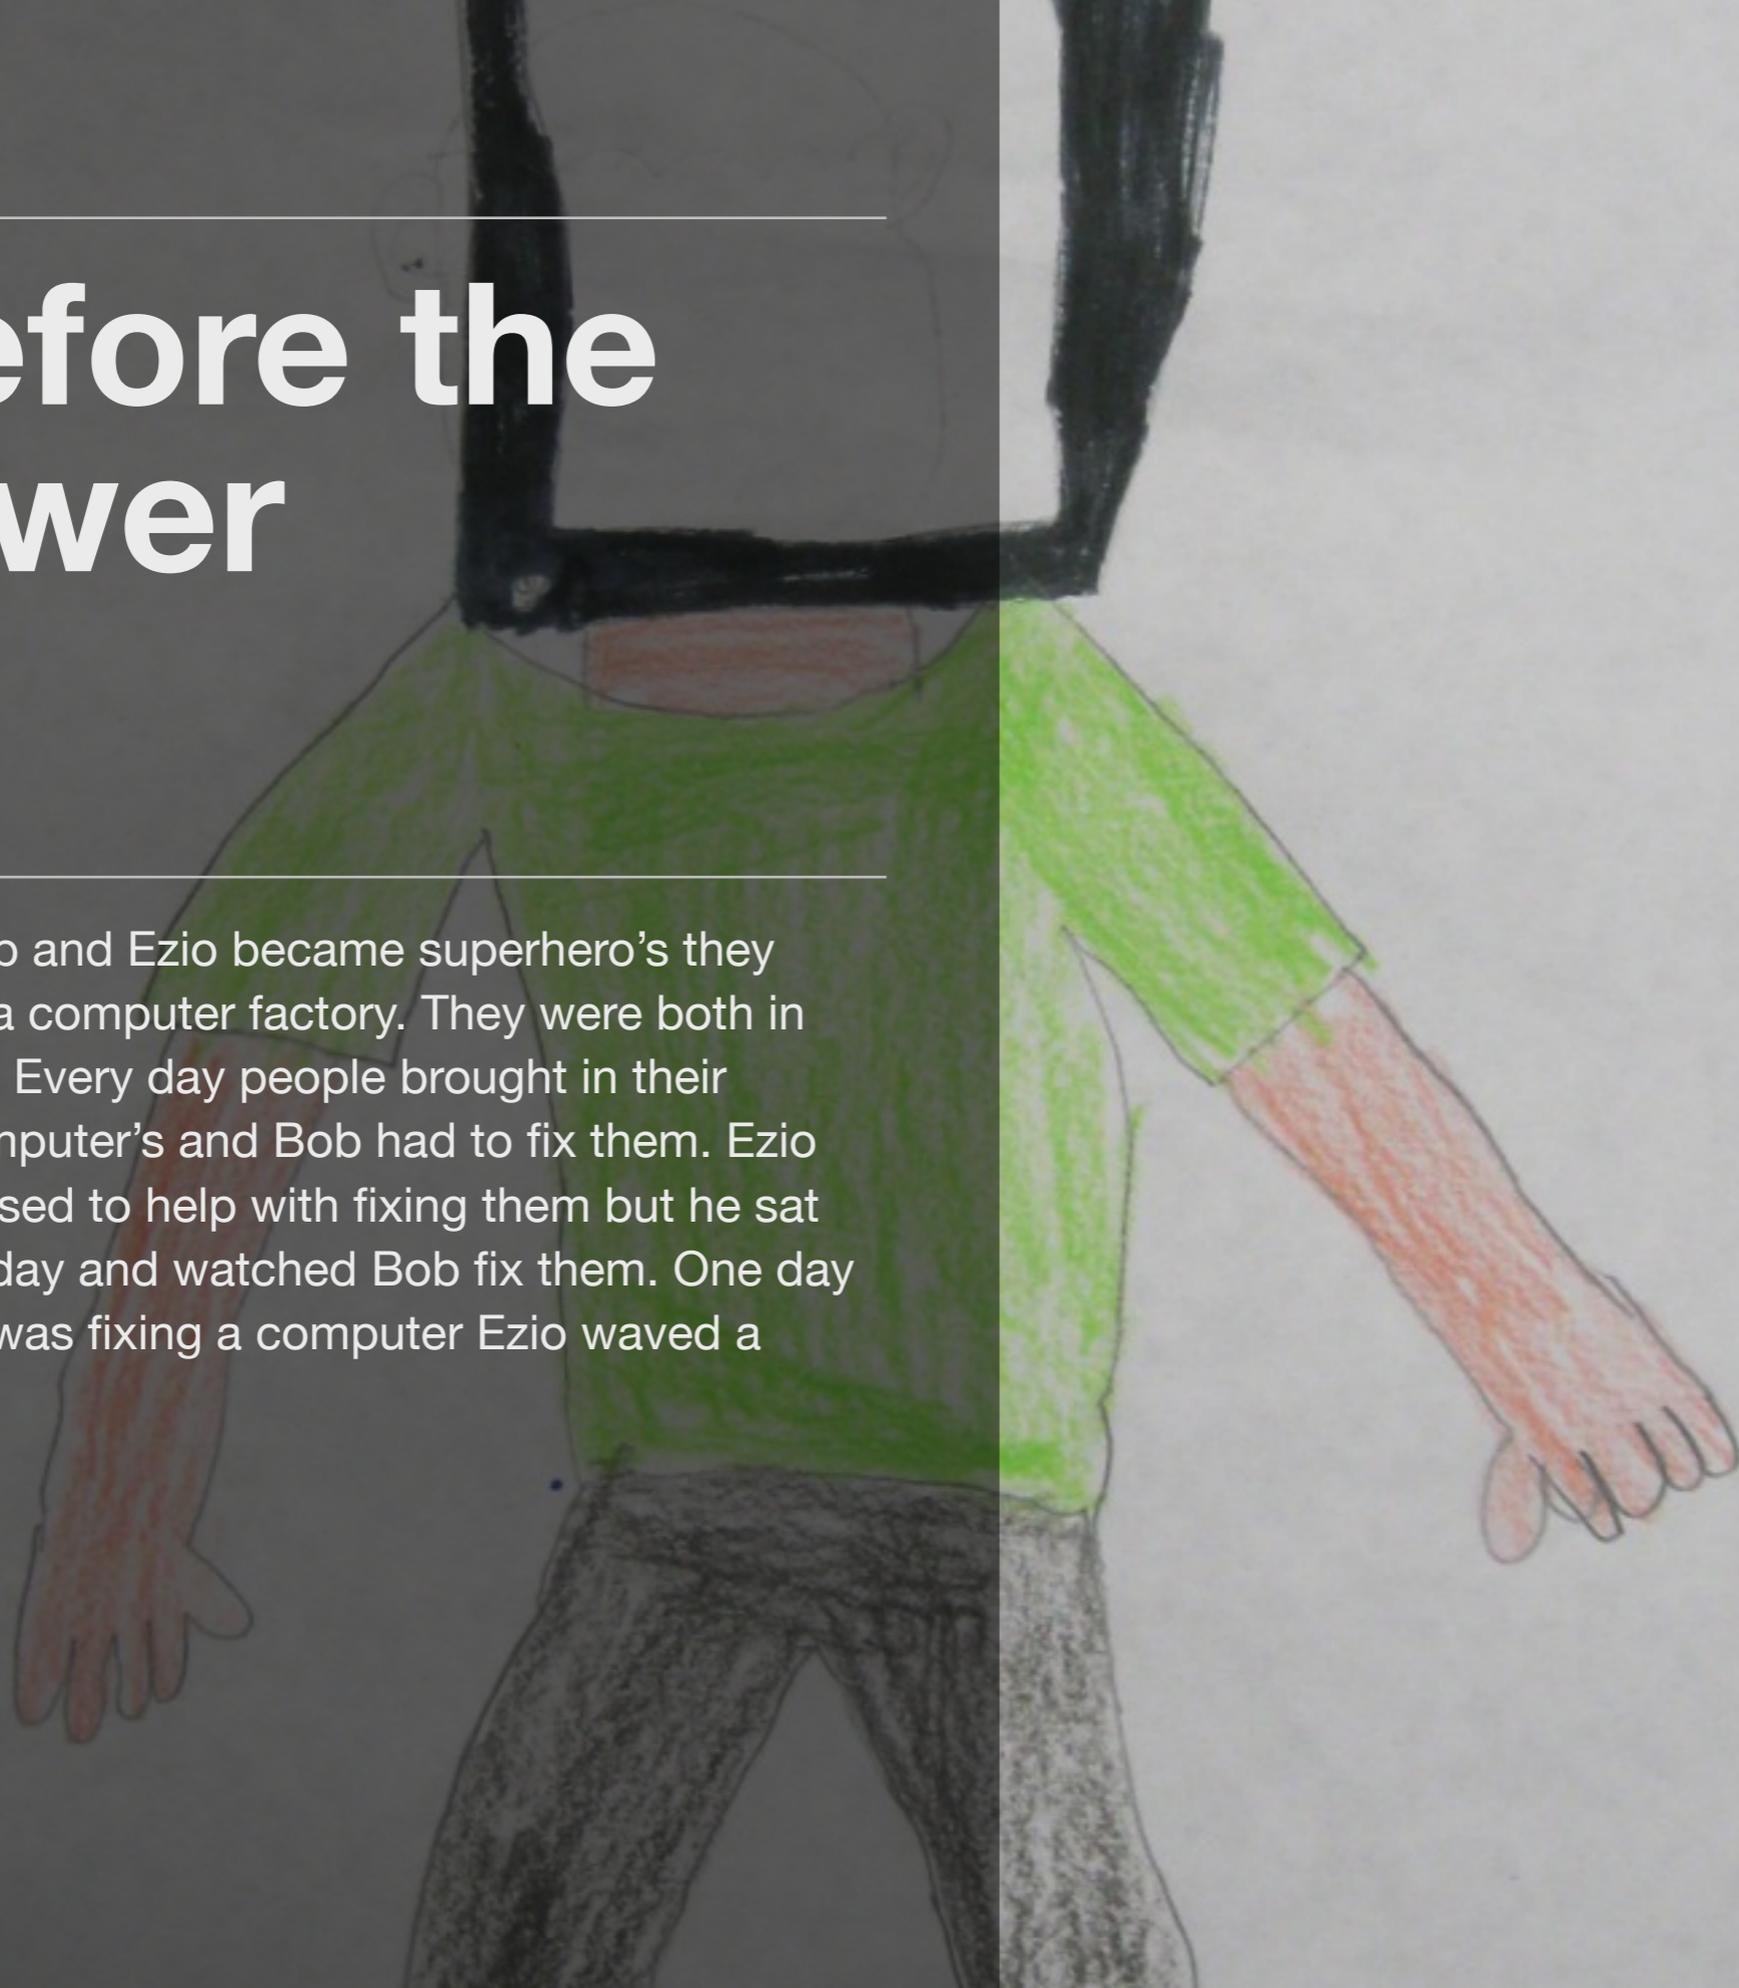

Introduction

Meet my strong, brave, fearless, smart, and awesome superhero. His villain is called David. He has a brother called Ezio. David has a very smart assistant called Kirk. Bob tries to stop David and Kirk from doing bad.

Before the Power

Before Bob and Ezio became superhero's they worked at a computer factory. They were both in their teens. Every day people brought in their broken computer's and Bob had to fix them. Ezio was supposed to help with fixing them but he sat around all day and watched Bob fix them. One day while Bob was fixing a computer Ezio waved a sword at Bob. "I'll cut you in half." Bob just ignored him and continued his work. " Did you hear me, I said work faster." Bob got so mad at his lazy brother he took the computer and smashed it on Ezio's head. Ezio fell to the ground and the computer rolled off his head. "You deserved that Ezio," he said. Then he left the store and never came back. On his walk home from the computer shop he counted the money that he had earned in the 5 months he was there. He counted $153. Then he continued his walk home.

The Power

On his walk home Bob got hit from behind and he fell to the ground. He felt someone reach in his pocket and take all his money. Then the person kicked Bob in the stomach and ran away. Bob got up and saw the guy run around the corner. He started chasing the person with his money. The guy darted into a building. When Bob got to the door a sign said High Voltage DO NOT ENTER. He didn't care and busted through the doorway. He saw the guy with his back to him staring at a 50 foot high generator. "This must power the whole city," Bob said. Then the guy turned around. That's when Bob charged at him as fast as he could. He grabbed the money but couldn't stop himself from falling into the generator. When he hit the surface of the generator he thought he was going to explode but then he just fell to the ground. Then he fell to sleep. When he woke up he was in a wooden box. "Where am I?" he asked. "Hello?" He looked around right next to him he saw flowers. "Oh great, they think I am dead," he said. "I must be in a coffin," He pushed up on the top of the coffin and the top of the coffin snapped off. When he held it in the air he also noticed all the dirt above the coffin got ripped out of the ground. "How did that just happen?" He got out of the coffin and put the ground back. He ran home and tried to find out who the person was that stole his money. He found the name David. Then he tried to figure out how he was able to tear up the ground. He found out he could pick up a 200 pound weight on one finger. He thought that when he collided into the generator his muscles became really big. Once he figured out how strong he was he went home and looked on the computer to see where David lived.

David's Defeat

Bob went out to search for David. The computer said he lived at the corner of Lake Grove and Grace Park. He busted into the building. The room looked very weird. It was dark and dim blue light lit the place up. There was no furniture in the room. "Hello?" Bob said. Then David fell down from the ceiling above Bob. He punched Bob in the stomach but nothing happened. Bob picked up David and threw him on the ground. He kicked him in the nose. From the sound of the crack Bob knew David's nose was at least dislocated. "Why do you rob people and hurt them?" Bob asked. "How did you survive the generator?" David asked. Bob punched David in the jaw. "Are you going to rob anyone again?" he asked. "Of course!" David said. Bob punched him with all his strength. "Are you going to rob anyone again?" Bob asked for a second time. "No," David said in a weak voice. "Good," Bob said. Then he walked out of the house and walked back home.

The End

Chapter 5

Meet the author

My name is Andrew. I am 10 years old. I really enjoyed writing this book. You should also see my movie that's coming out in October. Thank's for reading my book.

